

Supplemental Figure 2: Cell databases built from degenerate protein alphabet k-mers can reliably identify cell types across individuals of the same species

